The Silent Corner Dean Koontz

"I very much need to be dead."

These are the chilling words left behind by a man who had everything to live for—but took his own life. In the void that remains stands his widow, Jane, surrounded by questions destined to go unanswered. People have recently been committing suicide in surprising numbers. Even more surprising is that they all seem to be people of talent and accomplishment, people admired and happy and sound of mind, people like Jane's husband. There is no one else to speak for him or the others, no one willing to find the answers. Jane finds she must do what all the grief, fear, confusion, and fury inside of her demand—find the truth, no matter what.

Wired Julie Garwood

Allison Trent doesn't look like a hacker. But behind her gorgeous face is a brilliant mind for computers and her real love is writing—and hacking—code. Her dream is to write a new security program that could revolutionize the tech industry. Hotshot FBI agent Liam Scott has a problem: a leak deep within his own department. He needs the skills of a top-notch hacker. He finds the perfect candidate in Allison. Only, she wants absolutely nothing to do with it. What Liam doesn't know is that Allison is hiding secrets that she doesn't want the FBI to uncover. But he will do nearly anything to persuade her to join his team, even put his job on the line.

Unsub Meg Gardiner

Caitlin Hendrix has been a Narcotics detective for six months when the killer at the heart of all her childhood nightmares reemerges: The Prophet. The Prophet terrorized the Bay Area in the 1990s and nearly destroyed Caitlin's father, Mack, the lead investigator on the case. The Prophet's cryptic messages and mind games drove Detective Mack Hendrix to the brink of madness, and his failure to solve the series of ritualized murders was the final nail in the coffin for a once promising career. Twenty years later, two bodies are found bearing the haunting signature of the Prophet. Caitlin Hendrix has never escaped the shadow of her father's failure to protect their city. But now the ruthless madman is killing again and has set his sights on her.

Beach House for Rent Mary Alice Monroe

When Cara Rutledge rents out her quaint beach house on Isle of Palms to Heather Fordham it's a win-win: Cara's generating income and anxiety-prone Heather, a young artist, has a quiet space in which to work uninterrupted. It isn't long, however, before both women's idyllic summers are altered irrevocably. The alluring shorebirds—and the man who rescues them—begin to draw Heather out of the shell she's cultivated. At the same time, Cara's life reels with sudden tragedy, and she wishes only to return to the beach house that had once been her port amidst life's storms. When Heather refuses to budge from her newfound sanctuary, so begins the unlikely of rooming situations.

Down a Dark Road Linda Castillo

Eight years ago, Joseph King was convicted of murdering his wife and sentenced to life in prison. He was a "fallen" member of the Amish community and, according to local law enforcement, a known drug user with a violent temper. Now King has escaped, and he's on a mission. News of a murderer on the loose puts Chief of Police Kate Burkholder on edge. A nightmare scenario becomes reality when King shows up with a gun and kidnaps his five children from their Amish uncle's house. Fearing for the safety of the children, Kate leaps into action, but her frantic search for a killer leads her into an ambush. When King releases her unharmed, asking her to prove his innocence, she begins to wonder whether the police are hiding something.
